Library Extends Closing Time

By Judy Geisler
Student Gov't. Editor

U President Grant I. ... with Assistant Library ... Donald Schmidt, ... of library hours for the ... Clark Library, to begin ... students return from will be limited service, ... the building will be open, ... may be checked out and ... will be available, but no ... service area will be open ... reserve library.

et was asked about the ... between April's ... ment from Dr. Robert ... that hours would be ... and the actual date of ... sion.

IT'S ECONOMICS

"a matter of economics," ... red. "For every hour you ... hours, you have an ... in the cost of personnel, ... maintenance and all the ... because the university ... its money 18 months in ... it's hard to make changes ... new money." ... very appreciative of the ... of Pres. Ernest ... nson and Dr. Robert K. ... in helping us get the ... ended," added Richards. ... or problem was the budget, and it was Pres. Wilkinson who came to our aid in finding the necessary funds."

Another problem in obtaining the extension was explained by Schmidt.

"A few years ago, during the 1964-65 academic year, library hours were extended to where they are today," he commented.

"At that time there was such a small group of students who took advantage of the extended hours that the administration felt it wasn't practical.

"Then the library administrators were shown a student survey in which students were asked if they would use the library past the present 10 p.m. closing time," Schmidt continued. "An overwhelming 82 per cent of the students polled said they thought they would use the library past 10."

TIDE TURNS

It was this survey, according to Schmidt, that helped to turn the tide in favor of the extension of library hours.

"However, we must emphasize that this is an experiment of sorts," the officials went on. "If the response of the students to the extended hours is the same as it was the last time they were extended, we can forget about maintaining the extension."

The final problem in the struggle to extend the hours has not yet been overcome; however, the hours will nevertheless be extended in January, they said. This final problem is the hours kept by those residing in university housing.

"The extension of library hours does not mean there will be a liberalization of the residence hall hours," Richards clarified. "Those students now subject to dorm hours will still have to abide by them. This extension has no relation to dorm hours whatsoever."

Finder Talks Of 'First' Man

The reputed discoverer of the world's earliest man, Dr. L.S.B. Leakey, will be the featured speaker at today's forum assembly.

After receiving his doctoral degree in anthropology, Dr. Leakey returned to Africa for the British Museum of Natural History. In 1926 he led an expedition to the Dark Continent and has been engaged in the study of man's origins ever since.

Aided by his wife, Dr. Leakey has worked at least a month almost every year in the last 20 years on the famous Olduvai site where he has made numerous discoveries concerning the origins of man.

Perhaps the biggest tennis extravaganza ever held in the intermountain area begins today at BYU to help inaugurate the Cougars' new indoor tennis facility.

In addition to today's competition, matches will be held Friday and Saturday with students being admitted by activity card.

There is ample reason to believe that such a glowing evaluation of the tournament could, if anything, be on the conservative side.

In addition to the covey of stars that BYU head tennis coach Wayne Pearce boasts, collegiate standouts from all over the west will be on hand to make sure the new facility will be baptized with nothing but the finest of court play.

The new indoor courts should give the BYU tennis program a big boost. It will provide the Cat racquetmen, who until now have been stymied by the winter snow, with an opportunity to work out the whole year 'round. Pearce has labeled the new building, "The finest indoor facility I've seen."

All-Americans Roy Barth of UCLA and Tom Gorman of Sea tide head the list of invited guests. Gorman, it will be remembered, was noosed out by NCAA champion and USA Davis Cupper Stan Smith in the semi-finals of the NCAA tourney last year.

But local stars Zdravko Minecek of BYU and F.D. Robbins of the Utah Redskins, one of the two best junior players in the nation, figure to give the visitors a tough battle in the fight for the championship hardware.

Blood Drive Continues

Be a Santa Claus; make someone's Christmas a little brighter by giving a pint of blood. The Arnold Air Society-Angel Flight Blood Drive, which ends this afternoon, is being held in cooperation with the American Red Cross.

Blood donations will be taken from 10 a.m. until 3:30 p.m. in the Games Area of the Wilkinson Center.

During the first three days of the drive, Christmas donors have given 390 pints toward the 800 pint goal.

According to Parker Owens and Lynne Cutler, drive chairmen, the drive is the only one on campus that is coordinated with both the Red Cross and the community.

Any full-time student at BYU is entitled to all the blood he may need in an emergency during the school year, regardless of whether or not he donated blood.

This will be possible even if the drive does not reach its goal of 800 pints.

Donors will receive blood donor cards on which the donor's blood type is indicated. The card entitles the holder to all the blood he may need at any participating hospital in the country.

Supremacy awards will be given to campus wards and organizations which donate the most blood during the drive. The donor should indicate that he is donating on behalf of his particular organization.

Minecek or "Z" as he is known to his mates, played on the Davis Cup team for his native Yugoslavia and is seeded fourth in the tournament. Only Barth, Gorman and Steve Tidball, also of UCLA are seeded above the likeable European.

Minecek seemed destined last spring to win the Western Athletic Conference singles crown but was declared ineligible mid-way through the season on a technicality. This year he seems ready to win everything in sight.

There will be 32 entries in the singles matches, with Coach Pearce entering the entire Cougar squad.

COUGAR ENTRY

Along with Minecek, the BYU contingent features Larry Hall, Patrick Landau (Davis Cupper for his native Monaco), Chuck Patz, Don Lowe (number one on the team before his mission), Eric Baer, Jeff Christiansen, Ernie Smith, Dave George and Randy Trans.

Utah will also have a large group participating with Harold Sears, Dale Fritz, Dave Harmon and Laury Hammel playing in addition to the aforementioned Robbins.

A freshman at the U, Robbins won the National Junior Hardcourt title, the National Junior Grass Court championship and several other noteworthy titles last summer. He would

lo 'Yes Men' On Nixon Cabinet Slate

INGTON (AP) — select Nixon appointed a banker to be his budget Wednesday and prepared a Cabinet lineup he said is composed of "big men, strong men," not "yes men." For its key posts Nixon has chosen former Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers to be secretary of state and Rep. Melvin R. Laird of Wisconsin as secretary of defense. The new director of the Bureau of the Budget is Robert P. Mayo, 52, vice president of the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust Co. of Chicago and a veteran of 18 years in the Treasury Department.

The president-elect said in New York that Mayo will attend all Cabinet meetings and will be among the men to be introduced at his nationally televised cabinet-naming session in Washington Wednesday night. He planned to fly to Washington late in the day.

"I consider him a top member of the Cabinet team and not in a subordinate position," Nixon said.

He joked a bit about speculation or whom he would name, telling newsmen he would go on television to present "the names that most of you have already appointed."

"Correctly?" a reporter asked. "Oh, I wouldn't know, I haven't decided," Nixon answered.

Other Nixon Cabinet choices, it was learned, include Michigan Gov. George Romney to be secretary of housing and urban development, Alaska Gov. Walter Hickel as secretary of the interior, and Lt. Gov. Robert H. Finch of California to head the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

These choices were confirmed by a top Republican member of Congress. He also said Nixon has advised his congressional leaders of his selection of these men.

John N. Mitchell, Nixon campaign manager and former law partner, to be attorney general.

—Republican Gov. John A. Volpe of Massachusetts, to be secretary of transportation. —David Kennedy, chairman of the Continental Illinois Bank of Chicago, to be secretary of the Treasury.

—George P. Shultz, dean of the University of Chicago Graduate School of Business, to be secretary of labor.

—Winton M. Blount, Montgomery, Ala., president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, to be postmaster general.

—Clifford M. Hardin, chancellor of the University of Nebraska, to be secretary of agriculture.

—Maurice H. Stans, budget director in the Eisenhower administration, to be secretary of commerce.

"I have picked big men, in my view they are big men, strong men," Nixon said. "We are not going to have a Cabinet basically of yes men."

Our Up with People Sing-Outs are more than an explosion of music. They are demonstrations of a generation speaking and singing out with a creative new voice and a commitment to tackle together the crucial issues of our day.

We aim:

- to link up a generation worldwide with the fire and faith that can put freedom on the move in every continent;
  - to turn the inward and downward to the outward and upward;
  - to offer a passionate and positive alternative to violence and anarchy.
- We are not here to tell people more about the crisis in the world but to proclaim a new creativity that could sweep the earth. That is why we decided to:

PRSA Chapter Planned

The possible formation of a student chapter of the Public Relations Society of America will be discussed today at 5:15 p.m. in F-243 Harris Fine Arts Center. Students who are planning a career in public relations are invited to attend.

Dr. Rulon Bradley and Dr. Oliver Smith, who attended the PRSA national convention in Chicago recently, will explain the program and give highlights of the Chicago convention.

Graduate Religion Series today at 8 p.m. in the Joseph Smith Banquet Hall.

Dr. Rasmussen received a research grant last summer to investigate a strange aspect of Jewish theology prevalent in medieval times. According to Dr. Rasmussen, a mystical branch of Judaism moved from the concept of an imminent, personal god to a concept of plural deity. Rasmussen's lecture will be report of his research. There will be a charge for the lecture of cents for students and one dollar for others.

'Polish Biggest Problem Facing Cougar Gymnasts' — Morgenegg

By Cam Caldwell
Universe Sportswriter

The Mountain Cat performance at the Rocky Mountain Open gave Coach Morgenegg and his gymnastics squad good indication of overall team strength but revealed a problem that had previously been suspected.

Cougar performers "as a whole performed well, although key men in each event were disappointing," said Morgenegg. Little indication of team depth could be determined by making in the finals, though, as only the eight best qualified men of the 40 competing in each event.

Unfortunately for the Cougars, their top men were inconsistent, though the second and third men performed well. A good example of this was the high bar event. Top man, Mike Gordon, missed the trick before his dismount and just did fail to qualify for the finals.

Craig Beck, performing his best routine of the season, and John Hughes who generally performed well in all events, were able to fill Gordon's gap by both qualifying for the finals and placing fifth and sixth.

Even BYU All-American Dennis

Ramsey had troubles. Leading the side horse competition after a good first night performance, Dennis hit his hand on a pommel and fell off the side horse just prior to his dismount. Still, he finished third. Besides Ramsey, Beck and Hughes, the only finalists for BYU were Mike Lyman in long horse vaulting and Don Ferree in free exercise.

In fairness to the Cougar team, injuries were a real detriment. The day before the meet, freshman still rings stand-out Gary Vanderhoff badly re-injured his right shoulder. Gordon, Ferree and Dave Watters on parallel bars were favoring injuries which limited their performance.

Morgenegg indicated that the greatest benefit of the meet was that it indicated where progress was needed.

"Our problem is not in having to improve the difficulty of our routines, it's polishing and perfecting that which we have," he commented. "This meet showed the team that they have the ability and that they can go as far as they want in the conference if they work hard enough."

The Berkeley Clinic, a four-day gymnastics clinic sponsored by the University of California at Berkeley, is next in line for the BYU gymnastics team.

ELWC Holiday Festivities Planned

For all BYU students remaining on campus during the Christmas Holidays, the ELWC Games Center will sponsor New Year's Eve and Christmas activities.

Young Marrieds will be able to attend a special New Year's Eve party Dec. 31, from 9 p.m. to midnight. There will be a nominal fee of 25 cents per couple, which will cover the cost of one line of bowling, one half hour of table tennis and shuffleboard, plus refreshments.

On Dec. 20, Christmas Capers will be held for all BYU students. There will be a 25-cent charge for one line of bowling, one half hour of table tennis, one half hour of shuffleboard and admission to the record hop. Mike McCabe, KOVO disc jockey, will be spinning the records for the dance. The festivities will run from 8:30 to 9:30 p.m.

"Both activities will be held in the ELWC and require BYU activity cards," stated Martin of Heimlich of the ASBYU Games Committee.

AP Tabs Nation's Best

UCLA, North Carolina and Davidson are ranked 1-2-3 at the top of major college basketball and will probably remain in that order for at least another week due to the weekend schedule.

There was a considerable drop in the voting ballots to fourth- and fifth-rated Kentucky and New Mexico. Cincinnati, Notre Dame, Villanova, Duke and St. Bonaventure round out the nation's top ten college squads. New Mexico, tabbed as the Western Athletic Conference favorite, plays Occidental and UTEP this weekend.

1. UCLA (80)	9-0
2. North Carolina	9-0

massive four-point buck to its feet not more than 100 yds. I stood on a steep hillside. Aspen branches so close together that Peter Rabbit would have thought twice about being in, made a shot seem probable.

hundred pounds of buck picked its way between dead over falling logs as it crept for the ridge, 50 yards away. He had hedged down. He could not move. I was in such an aspen jungle. At times I fired, and each time heart sank as I heard the crashing through twigs and leaves.

The buck paused at the crest of the hill for a second or two. That was visible were his hind, neck and front legs. I was in the middle of the neck, and the trophy was in my hands. The trophy was in my hands. The trophy was in my hands. The trophy was in my hands.

Lighter bullets which travel at higher velocities will have a much flatter trajectory than heavier, slower bullets. They will also expand much faster on game, not penetrating nearly as much as the blunt-nosed, slower, heavier bullets.

Heavier bullets such as the 270-grain in a .30/06 or a 300-grain in a .338, do not travel as fast and have a greater mid-range trajectory than lighter bullets. The heavier bullets do plow through more branches, bones and muscles before they expand or disintegrate.

With these ideas in mind, it is understandable why a 117-grain bullet in a .257 or 150-grain bullet in a .308 would work well on a deer, but would expand too fast.

A surface wound such as a broken shoulder on heavy game like moose or grizzly would result. Broken shoulders usually stop deer but only make grizzlies more dangerous!

We can also understand why a 220-grain silvertip in a .30/06 or a 270-grain bullet in a .375 magnum would go right through a deer, antelope or cougar's middle without ever expanding. These heavy bullets would not only break the shoulder of a moose or grizzly but would continue into the vital organs before completely expanding.

This means that we must take time before the hunt to get to know our guns, ammunition, game and hunting areas to be effective hunters.

Big 'Splash' In '69...

Tankers: Optimistic Outlook

By AIO'Hara
Universe Sports writer

In 1928 the Brigham Young University swim team produced four individual NCAA championship medals. Now, 40 years later and during what will be the third year of a new era of competitive swimming at BYU, Coach Walter Cryer is planning for more representation among the NCAA elite.

Coach Cryer, a former University of Illinois athlete, was called on to renew the BYU competitive swimming program in 1965.

As a University of Illinois collegian he was a letter winner in swimming and gymnastics. He lettered in each sport for three years and was captain of the gymnastics team, which won the Big Ten title for three consecutive years.

As a senior, Coach Cryer placed fourth in the trampolene event in the NCAA national meet. He also placed sixth in the USHA National Handball Tournament in 1959.

Bringing these fine credentials to BYU, Coach Cryer set his goals and began working toward them.

First, he pointed to a winning dual meet season. With a team dominated by freshman athletes, the Cougars achieved that goal. The record would have been more impressive except that four of the BYU opponents would not recognize points scored by the frosh.

In the year just past (1966-67) the Cougars really established themselves as a coming power in intercollegiate swimming. Again with the aid of some outstanding freshmen athletes, the Cougars not only scored a winning dual season but were undefeated in 17 dual contests.

Among those that fell were powerful University of Utah (75-29), Colorado State University (54-50), and the Air Force Academy (68-36).

The 1967 Denver Relays trophy rests in the BYU case and represents the first major relays title for the Cougars.

Another goal set by Coach Cryer lists a Western Athletic Conference championship for BYU. The Cats finished third in 1965-66 and moved comfortably into second place in 1967 and continued in that stead in 1968.

Ute Chessmen

Top Cats, 8-2

The BYU chess team lost its first match of the year as Utah won the match, 8-2, last week. James A. Bracy and Bob Scatena were the only winners for BYU. Intermountain area schools are now being contacted in an attempt to organize a new intercollegiate chess conference.

Chess enthusiasts interested in participating will be interested in knowing that their participation is encouraged. Chess club meets on Thursdays at 7 p.m. in 351 ELWC.

All plans point toward the WAC title in 1969.

The University of Utah, reigning as conference champs for the past years, has been the major nemesis for the title hungry Y Watermen.

But the Cougars have been closing the gap on the Redmen, eagerly awaiting their topple. Only fifteen points separated the two teams at the close of last season. This could be the year of the Cougars.
